Electric LETTER OPENER

This heavy-duty letter opener will save precious time where it counts . . . . will get mail open and into distribution faster and at a price even the smallest office or department can afford. Designed, built, and backed by The General Industries Company, a leader in the manufacture of fractional horsepower electric motors, custom-molded plastics and consumer products for 65 years, The General Industries Electric Letter Opener is ruggedly built for years of trouble-free service. Clean, modern design . . . . whisper quiet operation. (It's quiet because there are no gears to grind . . . . or jam either!) Handles all sizes of envelopes. Ask your Commercial Stationer for a demonstration in your office today, but beware! Don't let the office girls see it; you know how they are about things that make their jobs easier and more efficient! Don't say we didn't warn you!
